

DIXON EVENING TELEGRAPH.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY OF DIXON BY ACT OF CITY COUNCIL

Telegraph Sixtieth Year

DIXON, ILLINOIS, THURSDAY MARCH 7 1912.

Dixon Daily Twenty-Eighth Year No 57

MANY POWER PLANTS BOUGHT BY SYNDICATE

DIXON, STERLING, STREATOR, OREGON, BELVIDERE AND POSSIBLY FREEPORT IN TRUST.

DEAL IS A MAMMOUTH ONE

Forty Million Dollar Company Back of Project—Success of Big Syndicate Seems Assured.

It has been reported that the Insull interests, which have purchased the S. D. & E. and the Lee County Lighting company of Dixon, had purchased the DeKalb-Sycamore Interurban. This is incorrect, as the ownership of the DeKalb road has just been passed over to the Rockford interurban road.

Many Plants Purchased.

When the smoke clears away, which will be very soon, it will be found that the interests which have purchased the Dixon power plant will own the plants in Sterling, Polo, Oregon, Streator, Belvidere and many others. Freeport may possibly be in the deal. Freeport may possibly be in the deal.

This is the biggest upheaval in electrical industrial circles that northern Illinois has ever known.

The company backing the entire deal is capitalized at forty million dollars, which assures the success of the undertaking.

TOM LONG FOR DEM. PRESIDENT

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS, WHEN POLLED BY TELEGRAPH REPORTER, SEEM TO LEAN TO ROOSEVELT AND TOM LONG.

SUPERVISORS ARE ADJOURNED

Farmers' Institute Program May Be Changed—Chairman Edwards Is Given Rising Vote of Thanks for His Good Work—Supervisors Enjoy Campaign Cigars.

A new leader for the democratic forces of the country was discovered this afternoon at the meeting of the board of supervisors, when a straw vote of that body was taken to determine the presidential preferences of the members, for Supervisor Thos. Long of Harmon polled four more votes than did Champ Clark. The result of the poll was:

Taft	2
Roosevelt	11
Long	6
Clark	2
Wilson	1

Closing Session.

But little real work was done by the supervisors in their closing session this afternoon and they adjourned sine die at 3:15, after giving the chairman, Mr. Edwards, a rising vote of thanks for his work in the chair.

Probably the most important matter to come before the board this afternoon was a request by Abram Ackert and W. F. Wolcott of the Lee County Farmers' Institute, for an expression from the board on a proposition to abandon the three-day sessions of the institute hereafter and to hold three sessions of one day each in three parts of the county. The matter was left to the executive committee of the Farmers' organization.

The board smoked good cigars from R. W. Thompson, W. G. Kent and John Drew, all of whom are candidates for office, and had a love feast before adjourning.

Mrs. Geo. Hirth Jr. of Rock Falls visited her mother, Mrs. C. M. Palmer, of this city yesterday.

Attorney C. B. Preston of Pawpaw was here today.

TELEGRAPH WILL PUBLISH MUSIC

POPULAR AND CLASSICAL SELECTIONS TO APPEAR EACH SATURDAY NIGHT IN THE TELEGRAPH.

Another attractive feature, this one of especial interest to the music lovers, has been secured by the Telegraph, in its effort to provide every detail the subscribers may wish—which desire in the past has made this paper the best in northern Illinois, and the introduction of this new feature will take place next Saturday.

At that time the Telegraph will publish the first of a series of musical selections—vocal and instrumental—which cannot fail to arouse the interest of all musicians, and music lovers, for the selections this paper will publish every Saturday night are the regular 25c, 50c and 75c copies of the pieces. The first number is bound to interest all, as it is "Saphire Are Those Eyes of Thine," one of the successes of The Pink Lady, now playing at the Colonial theatre in Chicago.

Among the other selections in prospect are "Tandare Dey," from The Quaker Girl, "Dance of the Hours," from La Gioconda, and Elvia as played by Strauss' famous orchestra. These pieces will all be published in large sizes and by cutting out and pasting in a book, can be kept in such form as to make a valuable collection.

U. GRANT DYSART WILL RUN AGAIN

POPULAR SUPERVISOR FROM VIOLA HAS MADE GOOD RECORD AND WILL PROBABLY BE RETURNED TO THE BOARD.

Our good friend, U. Grant Dysart, from Viola township, in an interview with the Telegraph today, announced that when his term expired he would again be a candidate for the office.

Made Good Record.

Grant Dysart's record so far has been a very good one and he has a host of friends down in Viola as well as in Dixon who will be very glad to see him returned to the board.

Not a great deal of very important business was transacted by the board of supervisors at this meeting which adjourned this afternoon, the greater part of the sessions being given over to the payment of bills and the approval of the committee reports. Inasmuch as there will be no terms of court after the April term, for which the juries were selected by the board at their December meeting, until after the June session of the supervisors, the appointments of future jurors goes over until that time.

This morning the regular batch of bills were allowed and ordered paid, but three bills being rejected: They were those of the Dixon hospital for $31.50, the Standard Supply company for $15.45 and C. E. Harrington for $27. Supervisor Wagner turned over to the county $30 which had been subscribed by the Brethren church of Franklin Grove to assist in caring for an appendicitis patient, who was operated on at the Dixon hospital.

Governor Charles S. Deneen will be in Dixon tomorrow and will address the voters of Dixon and Lee County at the Dixon opera house.

His talk will be short and to the point and he is expected to answer some of the assertions made against him by the various other candidates who are running up and down the state, calling all other candidates than themselves, thugs and crooks, and hurrahing for the flag and the Union.

Governor Deneen will open his speech at one o'clock.

The governor will be here for so short a time that there are no extensive plans for receiving him, although a committee of three organized by the Governor's campaign manager, will be at the depot and will bring him directly to the opera house in an automobile. He will be here just an hour, arriving at 12:55 and leaving at 1:55.

SUPERVISORS CHANGE COUNTY FARM NAME

COUNTY INSTITUTION WILL HENCEFORTH BE KNOWN AS LEE COUNTY HOME

Henceforth the name of the Lee County Farm will be the Lee County Home. Following the example set by the Ogle County Supervisors the Lee Co. board yesterday on motion of Supervisor Maurice Cook, adopted that name for the Lee county institution. The great amount of work before the committees prevented their reporting in time for any other business before the hour of going to press. It has been called the Lee county poor farm in the past.

There were no toasts, but the conversation was pleasant and spirited throughout the evening, adding to the enjoyment of the guests.

TRAINED DOG DELIGHTS

SCHOOL CHILDREN

The students of the Dixon schools have been greatly entertained and instructed the past week by Mr. McCormick and his wonderfully educated dog. The animal, a collie which was taught by kindness and a great deal of petting, displays remarkable ability—counting, adding and subtracting, and gives absolute proof to Mr. McCormick's statement that the dog is a subject for telepathy.

Fighting and Looting in Peking —18,000 More Soldiers Revolt.

CALHOUN CABELS FOR AID

Yuan Shi Kai Faces Tremendous Task in Restoring Order in China—Church of England Missionary Is Murdered.

Manila, March 7.—Six hundred men of the Fifteenth Infantry, under command of Lieut. Col. Edwin A. Root, will leave here tomorrow for Tientsin, China, to protect the lives of imperiled Americans now virtually besieged in the northern Chinese metropolis. The transports Seward and Liscum have been ordered to carry the troops from Manila to China. The rushing forward of soldiers is at the request of United States Minister Calhoun, now in Peking.

Fighting and Looting in Peking. Peking, China, March 7.—Fighting and looting have been resumed in Peking. The scene of the disturbance is in the western part of the city, where, as this cable is being sent, a conflagration is raging.

Yuan Shi Kai faces a tremendous task in restoring order in China. Of six divisions of troops originally loyal there are only two upon which he can depend. The second division at Shinyankow in Honan province has revolted, and so has the Fifth division in Shantung province, totaling 18,000 men. Shangkaiwan, a rich walled city in Chihli province, where the great wall reaches the sea, was looted by soldiers from Yungkingfu.

In spite of all difficulties it is believed that Yuan will weather the storm. The Nanking government, realizing that the disturbances are dangerous to the republic, is planning to co-operate with him and a consolidated government will be established in this city soon. Meanwhile Gen. Tieh Liang, ex-minister of war, and other Manchurians in Dalny are plotting Yuan's overthrow.

Vice-President to Take Oath.

The Nanking delegates here have requested Dr. Sun Yat Sen to send the seal of the republic to Yuan Shi Kai.

Gen. Li Yuenheng, vice-president of the Chinese republic, is leaving Wu-chang for Nanking, where he will take the oath as proxy for Yuan Shi Kai, the president-elect of the republic. Tang Shao Yai also is proceeding from Peking to Nanking to take the oath as premier. When these formalities have been completed the entire republican cabinet will come to Peking at once.

A missionary named F. Day, belonging to the Church of England mission and attached to the district of Pao-tungfu, was killed here by mutinous Chinese soldiers.

CASCARETS SURELY STRAIGHTEN YOU OUT

No Headache, Biliousness, Upset Stomach, Lazy Liver or Constipated Bowels by Morning.

Are you keeping your bowels, liver and stomach clean, pure and fresh with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passageway through these alimentary or drainage organs every few days with Salts, Cathartic Pills, Castor Oil or Purgative Waters?

Stop having a bowel washday. Let Cascarets thoroughly cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the undigested, sour and fermenting food and fowl gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system the decomposed waste matter and poisons in the intestines and bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will make you feel great by morning. They work while you sleep—never gripe, sicken or cause any inconvenience, and cost only 10 cents a box from your drug-gist. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never have Headache, Biliousness, Coated tongue, Indigestion, Sour Stomach or Constipated Bowels. Cascarets belong in every household. Children just love to take them.

SCOTT AT SOUTH POLE?

Explorer's Wife Awaiting Confirmation of News.

Party Gone Over Two Years—Capt. Roald Amundsen Returning Home From Voyage.

Hobart, Tasmania, March 7.—Capt. Roald Amundsen, the Norwegian explorer, has reached here on the return from his south polar expedition.

London, March 7.—A rumor published here that Capt. Robert F. Scott, the British antarctic explorer, had reached the south pole, excited intense interest throughout England, but was without confirmation. Mrs. Scott, the explorer's wife, who lives in London, declared that she has had no word for some time from her husband, and a news agency which claims to be the news representative of Captain Scott has no information, and expects no word from Captain Scott for some time. It is admitted that Captain Scott must be somewhere near his cherished goal by this time.

The captain is an officer of the British navy. The Terra Nova, in which his expedition sailed, left London June 1, 1910, and was joined later in New Zealand by Captain Scott. Stores sufficient for three years were taken aboard. In January, 1911, Captain Scott and party went south to establish supply stations, his vessel returning to Auckland. All through last summer it was the intention to make the final preparations for the last dash toward the pole, which was to be carried out at the end of the year just closing. It is assumed, therefore, that if the expedition has been successful Captain Scott is on his way back to civilization.

The captain has with him sixty men, twenty Siberian ponies, thirty dogs and two motor sledges.

Aids Nature

The great success of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in curing weak stomachs, wasted bodies, weak lungs, and obstinate and lingering coughs, is based on the recognition of the fundamental truth that "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies Nature with body-building, tissue-repairing, muscle-making materials, in condensed and concentrated form. With this help Nature supplies the necessary strength to the stomach to digest food, build up the body and thereby throw off lingering obstinate coughs. The "Discovery" re-establishes the digestive and nutritive organs in sound health, purifies and enriches the blood, and nourishes the nerves—in short establishes sound vigorous health.

If your dealer offers something "just as good," it is probably better FOR HIM—it pays better. But you are thinking of the cure not the profit, so there's nothing "just as good" for you. Say so.

MITCHELL TAKES A FIRM STAND

Refuses to Assure Judge Wright He Will Abide by Court's Decrees.

WRITES LETTER TO JURISTS

Unwilling to Secure His Acquittal by Any Other Means Than Those of the Evidence—Text of Labor Man's Letter.

Washington, March 7.—John Mitchell, vice-president of the American Federation of Labor, declined to give to Judge Wright of the district Supreme court any assurance that he expected "hereafter to lend adherence to the decrees of the judicial tribunals of the land."

To do so, he declared, would be an admission that he had heretofore failed to comply with lawful decrees. Mr. Mitchell said he would rather be convicted of contempt than be acquitted on any other ground than the facts in the case.

Text of Mitchell's Letter. Mr. Mitchell's letter to the court follows:

"Judge Wright—Sir: At the close of my examination in the contempt proceedings instituted against Mr. Gompers, Mr. Morrison and me, the court stated that I was free at any time before these proceedings closed to give expression to the court either orally or in written communication upon the subject of the following recommendations: 'The court strongly recommends that you consider again the propriety of acquitting the court before these proceedings close with your conviction whether you ought, and whether you expect, hereafter to lend adherence to the decrees of the judicial tribunals of the land in matters committed by law to their jurisdiction and power.'"

Would Impugn Own Testimony. "I have given the court's recommendation careful thought and serious consideration, as a result of which I desire to say I believe that a statement by me that I expect hereafter to lend adherence to the decrees of the judicial tribunals of the land, would be subject to no other interpretation than that I have heretofore failed or refused to comply with the lawful decrees of the court and that my evidence in this proceeding was not truthful and sincere and in keeping with the facts in the case. I am not willing to make any statement that would impugn my own testimony. I am not willing by any device or subterfuge to attempt to deceive the court or secure an acquittal by any other means than those of the evidence and truthfulness of my testimony."

"Indeed, I should feel more contentment if convicted conscious of the rectitude of my course and the truthfulness of my evidence, than if acquitted on any other ground than the facts as they have been presented to the court and the law as it has been enunciated by the higher tribunal. Yours respectfully, 'JOHN MITCHELL.'"

Authorities Place Entire Staffs of Two Newspapers in Jail for Anti-American Outbreak.

Managua, Nicaragua, March 7.—An extraordinary outburst of anti-American feeling led to the arrest here of 50 or more prominent ringleaders, who are being held in detention until Secretary of State Knox has departed. This is the first indication publicly expressed of opposition to the Central American trip of the secretary of state.

Mr. Knox was present at a special session of the congress when the chairman, Senor Suarez, delivered a eulogistic speech.

The persons arrested include the whole of the editorial staffs of the Diario de Nicaragua and of the Diario Moderno, which had published a number of letters and placed headlines over them suggesting that dynamite should be used against the state secretary.

All dispatches leaving the city are subjected to keen censorship. The program of official visits, including solemn sessions of the assembly and of the supreme court, was carried out, after which President Diaz held a reception at which formal addresses were delivered. At 4 o'clock a gala banquet was given, followed by a grand ball.

Mexican Insurrectos Try to Bribe Yaquis to Murder Americans.

MADERO MAY QUIT OFFICE

Reported Also That He May Call Gen. Orozco to Cabinet Post—More U. S. Troops to Patrol Southern Boundary.

City of Mexico, March 7.—It is reported here that 3,000 Vasquista soldiers are within thirty miles of this city.

Guaymas, Mex., March 7.—That the Cientifico rebels are offering the Yaqui Indians large sums and the exclusive possession of the Yaqui River valley if they will murder settlers in isolated places, both Mexicans and Americans, was the word brought here by Gen. B. J. Viljoen, a peace commissioner, who returned from the northern part of Sonora. He said one Yaqui chief and a few men were in revolt.

It became known that the second peace commission to the Yaquis had been killed. General Viljoen declares the men fell victims to bandits in the mountains.

Sonora has sent 1,500 troops from Cananea to attack the rebels who are marching on Mexico City from Chihuahua.

Madero May Resign.

Mexico, March 7.—Members of congress reported that the receipt of President Madero's resignation and also that of Pino Suarez would not surprise them if presented when congress body meets April 2. They expected General Trevino would be the choice of congress for president ad interim.

The city council of Mexico City has ratified a proposal in the hands of the war department to call for volunteers for the protection of the capital. Its object is to leave the 2,000 regular troops now in garrison free for use in aggressive work against the northern revolutionists.

Cabinet changes intended to placate the various warring elements will be made soon if a report heard during the day proves true. The substitutions will affect six of the eight portfolios and are designed to amalgamate the Vasquistas, liberals, the army elements and the Maderists.

Perhaps the most startling feature of the plan is the proposed returning of Dr. Francisco Vasquez Gomez, the "brains of the revolution," to the post of public instruction.

Francisco de la Barra is slated for the ministry of foreign relations, which he occupied during the last of Diaz's administration.

GEORGE V. APPEALED TO

Only King Can End Strike Say London Dailies.

Premier Asquith Makes Another Effort for Peace, But Is Snubbed For His Pains.

London, March 7.—This morning's papers print appeals to King George to end the coal strike. The Express says:

"Only one man, it is now evident, can bring immediate peace in the coal war and rescue the state from its troubles, and that man is the king. Ministers have failed, parliament is impotent, and the customary channels of industrial arbitration are blocked. But the king can save the situation."

"The objection may be offered that as the king is a constitutional monarch he must act through his constitutional advisers, but that is not a valid objection in this great national crisis. The king is the father of his people and as such he may, without a breach of constitutional usage, through his advisers, offer himself as a mediator. Such a course would have the enthusiastic approval of the whole nation. Will the king's advisers stand in the way?"

This appeal to the king is issued as a result of more futile conferences between cabinet ministers, miners and owners.

Premier Asquith tried again to persuade the miners to call off the coal strike and leave their differences with the owners to the government, but again the miners showed no indication to accept anything less than the surrender of the owners.

'TIZ REMINDS ME OF MY BAREFOOT DAYS!'

"MY FEET NEVER GET SORE, TIRED OR CHAFED NOW, BECAUSE I USE TIZ."

"TIZ makes me feel like a boy again. Nothing would hurt my feet in those days, even when I'd run around barefooted with Rover, over rocks and pebbles and sticks."

"To be able now to have feet that never ache, never get tired, blistered, swollen or chafed, or have corns, callouses or bunions, is a glorious recompense for all the other aches and pains one suffers in the winter of life. TIZ makes the feet feel young and young feet make you feel young all over."

"I've tried many things for my poor old tired feet, for those bunions of 20 years, and for those corns that have added wrinkles to my face. I've tried plasters, powders and salves—and nothing has ever given the relief that TIZ has. My feet are now strong and vigorous, they never get tired or swollen, I have no corns, callouses or bunions any more—They are boy's feet on an old man."

TIZ gives instant relief and cures all foot troubles. It operates on a new principle, draws out all the poisonous exudations that cause foot troubles.

Don't accept a substitute. An elderly man especially, has a mind of his own; see that you get TIZ.

Speaking of the Divorce Evil

Trying to succeed in business without advertising is like the case of the man who, trying to out expenses, divorced his wife and alone attempted to keep house and raise his children. It cost him more money for doctor bills and funeral expenses in a year than he gave his wife in a lifetime.

AT THE ELEVENTH HOUR.

There is an hour of mystic charm,
When memory's chimes are rung,
A time of deep, religious calm,
Whose praise the bards have sung;
The heart of Elfdom throbs and beats,
And other days recall
The pledge that lip to lip repeats—
Our absent brothers, all!

Not riches great or high estate,
Nor blood of kingly line,
Nor favors that on fawning wait,
Inspire this hour of mine;
The banquet lights are burning low,
Within the antlered hall,
The theme is of the long ago—
Our absent brothers all!

I list the chiming of the hour,
The touch of glass with glass,
And count as friendship's priceless
dower,

The moments as they pass;
Where'er I roam, on land or sea,
Whatever fate befall,
Let me with them remembered be—
Our absent brothers all!

Though oceans stretch their leagues between,
Or trackless wastes divide,
A charm is in the hour, I ween,
That brings them to our side;
And some there are who sleep for aye,

Where sombre shadows fall,
But sweet the rosary we say—
Our absent brothers all!

—Robert Rexdale.

WHY LINCOLN WAS NOMINATED.

"An Old Politician" in Springfield Grows Reminiscent—Lincoln in 1860 Not Regarded as "The Biggest Man" But as "The Man Who Could Be Elected"—Not a Prominent Candidate Until Few Days Before Nomination—Situation Then Like Governorship Fight Now.

An old politician, a veteran of many hard fought political battles, sat in the hotel lobby in Springfield the other evening, says an exchange, and speaking of the contest now on for the republican gubernatorial nomination, became reminiscent.

"The appearance of J. McCan Davis as a candidate for governor at this time," he said, "I look upon as a significant event. Some may say that he gets in too late—that the other candidates have already got a long lead—but that is a wrong guess. In the first place, how many republican voters in Illinois do you think have really made up their minds just which candidate they will support? I venture to say not one in ten. There is just one thing the average voter will tell you right now—that no candidate can claim to be a sure winner, and that not one of the candidates who have been most prominent in the fight could be elected if nominated. That is the whole story, and if ever the republican party in Illinois needed a candidate for governor who could be elected, the time is right now.

J. MCCAN DAVIS

"I can't help being reminded," the old politician went on, "of how Abraham Lincoln came to be nominated for president in 1860. Mr. Lincoln was only a local man up to 1858. Nobody before that—not even Lincoln himself, apparently—had dreamed that he might be president some day. Just before he made that wonderful speech at Springfield, before the republican state convention in June, 1858, when he declared that 'a house divided against itself cannot stand,' that this nation could not permanently endure half-slave and half-free—on a train crowded with delegates on their way to that very state convention, a vote was taken on presidential candidates. Gov. Bissell got two votes Lyman Trumbull seven, Seward and others got their share; but there was not one vote for Lincoln—which shows that 'straw votes' don't always nominate. But what now seems strange to us is that although early in 1860 Lincoln was mentioned as a presidential possibility, he was not seriously regarded away from Illinois—and even here there were plenty of 'knockers,' who thought Gov. Seward of New York was the man with the band wagon. How remarkable it seems now that only about a week before the republican national convention met in Chicago in May, 1860, every one of the great newspapers in New York wisely reviewed the presidential situation, discussing Seward, Cameron, Fremont, Bell, Wade, McLean and five or six others, but do you believe it, not one even mentioned Abraham Lincoln!

"Well, when the delegates arrived in Chicago from all the northern states, they began to analyze things. Seward was the really 'big' man—a man who had been before the country for years—United States senator, governor of New York, a national leader. It looked like he was sure to be nominated; but it gradually dawned upon those delegates that Seward could not be elected if nominated. Neither could Cameron, Fremont, Bates of Missouri or any of the other candidates who were prominently in the contest. The fight made for Lincoln was on the ground of availability—that he was the one man who, if nominated, could be elected.

"And that is how Abraham Lincoln came to be nominated for president. Not that he seemed the 'biggest' man, but just because it was felt that thousands of men in the doubtful states would vote for him but would not vote for any other candidate mentioned. He was elected—and he turned out to be the biggest man of them all. It was not because he stood for no great principle; he stood for a mighty principle, but he had not offended the thousands whose votes were most needed to carry the election.

"So let's not draw conclusions too hastily when we talk about a new candidate for governor. The man of all men we need this year," the old politician concluded, "as the republican candidate for governor, is not the man who has been fighting his fellow republican leaders until thousands will not vote for him, but the man who, while a man of ability and high standing, has not offended a large element of his party. This is the only kind of a candidate we can elect—and I'll be surprised if it does not turn out that McCan Davis is the man."

FORMER DIXONITE
RECIEVES MENTION

BROTHER OF JOS. SHELHAMER IS SO—VOTED FOR 16 REPUBLICAN PRESIDENTS—LIVED IN HAZELWOOD LOG CABIN.

The following clipping from the Chillicothe Tribune will be of much interest to Dixon people, as J. T. Shelhamer, the gentleman referred to in the article, at one time made his home in, or rather, near, Dixon, in the old log cabin at Hazelwood. He is a brother of Joseph Shelhamer of this city and has many friends here:

J. T. Shelhamer, a pioneer citizen of Chillicothe and one of the city's best known and highly respected residents, is quietly celebrating his eighty-sixth birthday today at the family home on West Clay street. His son, William and family are enjoying one of the famous dinners prepared by Mr. Shelhamer's most estimable wife.

Mr. Shelhamer has not been in the best of health for several months but is slowly regaining strength and as soon as the weather settles his many friends, including The Tribune, expect to see him out again.

In addition to his high grade of citizenship, Mr. Shelhamer has a political record of which any Republican might well feel proud. Mr. Shelhamer has voted for sixteen presidents, as follows:

Taylor in '48, Scott in '52, Fremont in '56, Lincoln in '60 and '64, Grant in '68 and '72, Hayes in '76, Garfield in '80, Blaine in '84, Harrison in '88 and '92, McKinley in '96 and 1900, Roosevelt in '04, Taft in '08. Next November he will vote for his seventeenth candidate and the list will be continued as follows: Theodore Roosevelt, 1912.

Of the candidates voted for all but four were elected. He figures, therefore, that he has "lost his vote" in four instances, but he has no fear of losing it the next time.

Mr. Shelhamer was the recipient of many congratulations today upon attaining his eighty-sixth birthday.

Musicians will be interested in the Saturday evening Telegraph when a very attractive selection from The Pink Lady will be given. 563

LORIMER'S CAMPAIGN

OF MISREPRESENTATION

(By Will G. Mitchell.)

The Hon. Wm. Lorimer, in going over the state, assuming the pathetic role of a martyr and posing as the militant Moses of genuine republicanism fighting to wrest control of the G. O. P. from the hands of the "trust press editors of Chicago and the socialist wreckers" of the constitution, is affording the present campaign its most disgusting spectacle.

In assailing or misrepresenting the direct primary law as well as the initiative and referendum, Mr. Lorimer is not only committing political suicide, but arousing the wide-awake voters to an animated investigation into the merits and demerits of these policies with the result of turning favorable sentiment away from the false standards of his own political spoliemen and transferring it to the titular leaders of clean and progressive government.

The illustrious senator, according to his political utterances, fails to distinguish the lines of political cleavage between socialists and progressive republicans, and often falls into the common and stupid mistake of pronouncing socialist all men and measures that are not to his way of thinking. One of the chief differences between the followers of Lorimerism and progressive republicans in regard to socialism is that, the former fights it blindly, all the time upholding the very abuses and conditions that make for its growth, while the progressives fight it intelligently and seek to remedy the abuses and conditions upon which it thrives. To confound socialism and progressivism shows either gross ignorance or willful error. In dilating on the alleged fallacies of the initiative and referendum, Lorimer adroitly strives to create in the minds of his auditors the false impression that the only opportunity given the people to acquaint themselves with the necessary information anent a proposed piece of legislation, is the five minutes allotted them to mark their ballot at the polls. He well knows, however, that his statements in that regard are as illogical and absurd as they are untrue. He is conscious of the fact that under the initiative and referendum, after eight or five per cent respectively, of the voters have signed a petition and filed it with the secretary of state, requesting the legislature to pass or repeal a certain law, and the legislature adjourns without passing or repealing the law, it becomes the duty of the secretary of state to submit that question to the people at the ballot box at the next general election. He further knows that between the adjournment of the legislature and the general election, a campaign of education is conducted through the press and from the platform, thus affording an exhaustive discussion of the merits and demerits of the proposed measure. If Lorimer is honest, having an understanding of the practical workings of the initiative and referendum, why does he insist on distorting the facts that he may successfully carry out his artful misrepresentations?

Another conspicuous instance in which the distinguished senator seeks to convey misinformation to the public, is the instance in which he portrays himself as the "sagacious amender" of a federal meat inspection bill. He goes about, telling the people of the strenuous opposition he incurred at the hands of ex-President Roosevelt because he refused to endorse a meat inspection bill destined to "destroy the entire packing interests of the country." He tells his auditors that after he and James W. Wadsworth had subjected the bill to a critical analysis, they found it necessary to amend it beyond recognition, and when it was again presented to congress, it was passed with great unanimity and subsequently submitted to the president who, after signing it, pronounced it one of the best bills ever submitted for his signature. Now, upon this specific proposition, either Mr. Lorimer or Judson Welliver, writer in this month's issue of Munsey's Magazine, has falsely misrepresented the true facts. Mr. Welliver's comment regarding the bill is as follows: "Senator Beveridge of Indiana, presented an amendment for inspecting and labeling meats, which was adopted by the senate without debate. But in the house it met determined opposition. William Lorimer, reputedly a special agent of 'big business,' and James W. Wadsworth, chairman of the house committee on agriculture, undertook first to prevent the legislation and afterwards to make it as mild as possible. The bill was sent to the house committee on agriculture and Lorimer and Wadsworth returned a substitute for the provision. Concerning this substitute, Mr. Roosevelt wrote a letter to Mr. Wadsworth in which he said in part: 'I have gone over your bill very carefully and the more I investigate your proposed substitute the worse I find it; almost every change is for the worse; it is very, very bad. I cannot even promise to sign it, because the provisions are so bad, that, in my opinion, if they had been deliberately designed to prevent the remedy of the evils complained of, they could not have been worse.' This letter brought the crisis to a close. The Lorimer-Wadsworth substitute was amended along the lines of Roosevelt's demands, and the house and senate at last agreed on the efficient inspection that has since prevailed.

Multiplied numbers of instances might be given in which Mr. Lorimer either willfully or ignorantly tries to misrepresent the leaders and measures of the progressive republicans. But thanks to the honor and growing knowledge of the people, his underhand machinations will eventually funk into a complete farce. Time was, when corrupt leaders and political spoliemen could flourish unmolested; when crooks and grafters could fool the people and ride upon the billows of popular enthusiasm; when "puppets" of plutocracy could bribe and debauch legislatures and obtain senatorial seats by force of gold; but that day has passed, and now if such tactics are sought to be employed, the offender is subjected to the limelight of publicity, his crooked and dishonest methods are exposed to view and he consequently becomes the object of the contempt and scorn of all honorable and law-abiding men. Yea, verily, the "Lincoln-Lorimer-lumber" league is tottering near the yawning abyss of certain defeat. The deceptive Sun of Lorimerism is rapidly sinking and on Tuesday, April 9th, it will set to rise no more. The leaders of progressive republicanism are marching on with the sturdy zeal of their party's founders and they will not falter until this grand old state has been restored to that high eminence it enjoyed when ennobled by the peerless triumvirate, Lincoln, Grant and Logan.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN.

It is a proven fact that the human family is in need of alcohol as a stimulant and there are those who will say that it was not intended for man. Why did the all-wise Creator make and distribute so freely in all foods, grains and fruits? We will acknowledge the fact that he did more. He gave us the mill to grind the grain, and crush the fruit, also each of us a distillery to distill the alcohol, and brew in beer quantities sufficient for all our needs, and He knew how much was our need, and provided the quantity for us, and His way for us to get it. But man, not being satisfied, found a way of getting it into his stomach in larger quantities to stimulate his brain and nerves, until they were disordered and he is able to see snakes in Ireland and faults in all others, but none in himself, so man should take the dictates of our Creator, and what a wonderful mechanic he is. ## ONLY A NEWSPAPER GUY.

I see a man strut through the jam in a hall,
Take a seat 'mid the speakers and chat with them all,
"Is this Murphy?" I ask, "that the crowd he defies?"
"No," says some one, "he's one of the newspaper guys."

I see a man pushing his way through the lines
Of the cops where a fire brightly glimmers and shines.
"Chief Kenlon?" I ask, but a fireman replies,
"Oh, no, that's one of those newspaper guys."

I see a man start on the trail of a crook,
And he scorns all assistance, but brings him to book.
"Mr. Burns?" I inquired. Someone scornfully cries—
"Burns? No! He's just one of them newspaper guys."

I see a man walk through the door of a show,
Where great throngs are blocked by the sign S. R. O.
"Is this Goodwin himself, that no ticket he buys?"
"Well, hardly! He's one of those newspaper guys."

I see a man knock on a president's door,
And the sign "No Admittance" completely ignore.
"Is this Morgan, that privacy's rights he denies?"
"Morgan? Shucks! It's just one of those newspaper guys."

And some day I'll walk by the great streets of gold,
And see a man enter, unquestioned and bold.
"A saint?" I'll inquire, and old Peter'll reply,
"Well I should say no, he's a newspaper guy."

To Every Woman Who Wishes to Know "What's What" In Style

Our selections of coats, suits and skirts for spring wear are arriving daily and the showing is already large enough to give you a good "line" on the approved fashions for the approaching season.

Prominent in the collection are many coats and suits bearing the Wooltex label, a label that has become the recognized seal or authority in American fashions for women.

Among these superb garments are exact copies of styles created in Paris by Poiret, Drecoll, Paguin, Worth, Callot. Others are adaptations of Paris styles. Still others are original and exclusive Wooltex creations—for the Wooltex style staff includes several of the best designers in America.

New Materials are many, but serge still holds its place in favor. There are several new colors, but no tendency is shown to dislodge the old-time blues, grays, and browns. In trimming the bright colors and white are much used.

The lines of jackets and skirts present many changes, but these are easier to show than to describe.

WHEN A MAN MARRIES

BY MARY ROBERTS RINEHART
AUTHOR OF "THE CIRCULAR STAIRCASE"
"THE MAN IN THE LOWER TEN, ETC."

COPYRIGHT, 1909 BY THE BOBB'S-MERRILL COMPANY

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—James Wilson or Jimmy as he is called by his friends, Jimmy was round and looked shorter than he really was. His ambition in life was to be taken seriously, but people steadily refused to do so, his art is considered a huge joke, except to himself, if he asked people to dinner everyone expected a frolic. Jimmy married Bella Knowles; she lived together a year and are divorced.

CHAPTER II.—Jimmy's friends arrange to celebrate the first anniversary of his divorce. Those who attend the party are Miss Katharine McNair, who every one calls Kit, Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Brown, the Messrs. Mercer, Maxwell Reed and a Mr. Thomas Harbison, a South American civil engineer. The party is in full swing when Jimmy receives a telegram from his Aunt Selma, who will arrive in four hours to visit him and his wife. Jimmy gets his funds from Aunt Selma and after he marries she doubles his allowance. He neglects to tell her of his divorce, as she is opposed to it. Jimmy takes Kit into his confidence, he tries to devise some way so that his aunt will not learn that he has no longer a wife. He suggests that Kit play the hostess for one night. Mrs. Wilson pro tem. Kit refuses, but is finally prevailed upon to act the part.

CHAPTER III.—Aunt Selma arrives and the deception works out as planned. She had never seen Jimmy's wife.

CHAPTER IV.—Jimmy's Jap servant is taken ill, his face is covered with spots. Bella, Jimmy's divorced wife enters the house and asks Kit who is being taken away in the ambulance. She insists it is Jim. Kit tells her Jim is well and is in the house. Bella tells Kit it is well that she wanted to see, but that the Jap servant, as she wished to secure his services, Harbison steps out on the porch and discovers man taking a cab down the door. He demands an explanation. The man points to the card and he sees the word "smallpox" printed on it. He tells her the house is under quarantine and that the guests will have to stay until the quarantine is lifted.

CHAPTER V.—The guests suddenly realize their predicament, the women shed tears, the men consider it a good thing.

CHAPTER VI.—Harbison pleads with Kit to tell him the real situation of things. She finally tells him of Bella's incarceration in the basement.

CHAPTER VII.—The all important question arises as to what is to be done with the men and the other house hold duties. Harbison finally solves the matter. He writes out slips containing the various departments of the house, each one is assigned to his or her duties.

CHAPTER VIII.—After the lifting of the quarantine several letters written by the guests were found in the mail box undelivered, one is addressed to Henry Lawless, Union Nitrate Company, Jolique, Chile, which was written by Harbison. He describes minutely of their incarceration, also of his infatuation for Mrs. Wilson.

CHAPTER IX.—Harbison attempts to patch up one quarrel after another between Kit and Jimmy. Aunt Selma is taken ill with a gripe. Betty acts as nurse.

CHAPTER X.—Harbison finds Kit sitting on the roof. She tells him that Jim has been treating her outrageously. Harbison fully believing that she is Mrs. Wilson, tells her that she doesn't mean the things she is saying about her husband. Kit starts downstairs, when suddenly she is grasped in the arm of a man who kisses her several times. She believes that Harbison is the one who did it and is humiliated.

CHAPTER XI.—Aunt Selma tells Jimmy her cameo brooch and other pieces of jewelry and her money has been stolen. She accuses Betty of the theft.

CHAPTER XII.—The following morning Jimmy was in a rage. The papers published a story about the incarceration of the party, and that one of the guests had attempted to escape by means of laying a board across to the roof of the adjoining house, but was frustrated by a detective who fired a revolver at him.

CHAPTER XIII.—Jimmy tells Aunt Selma all the strange happenings, but she persists in suspecting Betty of the theft of the valuables.

CHAPTER XIV.—Dal devises a plan to escape from the house. They set fire to the reception room and attempt to leave the house from the rear. Kit guards against the rise and rush back to the rear of the house in time to see the house on fire. Dal escapes in automobiles that had been ordered for their flight.

CHAPTER XIV.

Almost, But Not Quite.

Dal had been acting strangely all day. Once, early in the evening, when I had doubled no trump, he led me a club without apology, and later on, during his dummy, I saw him writing our names on the back of an envelope, and putting numbers after them. At my earliest opportunity I went to Max.

"There is something the matter with Dal, Max," I volunteered. "He has been acting strangely all day, and just now he was making out a list—names and numbers."

"You're to blame for that, Kit," Max said seriously. "You put washing soda instead of baking soda in those biscuits today, and he thinks he is a steam laundry. Those are laundry lists he's making out. He asked me a little while ago if I wanted a domestic finish."

Yes, I had put washing soda in the biscuits. The book said soda, and how is one to know which is meant?

"I do not think you are calculated for a domestic finish," I said, coldly, as I turned away. "In any case I disclaim any such responsibility. But—there is something on Dal's mind."

Max came after me. "Don't be cross, Kit. You haven't said a nice word to me today, and you go around bristling with your chin up and two red spots on your cheeks—like what-her-name-was with the snakes instead of hair. I don't know why I'm so crazy about you; I always meant to love a girl with a nice disposition."

I left him then. Dal had gone into the reception room and closed the doors. And because he had been acting so strangely, and partly to escape from Max, whose eyes looked threatening, I followed him. Just as I opened the door quietly and looked in, Dallas switched off the lights, and I could hear him groping his way across the room. Then somebody—not Dal—spoke from the corner, cautiously. "Is that you, Mr. Brown, sir?" It was Flannigan.

"Yes, is everything here?"

"All but the powder, sir. Don't step too close. They're spread all over the place."

"Have you taken the curtains down?"

"Yes, sir."

"Matches?"

"Here, sir."

"Light one, will you, Flannigan? I want to see the time."

The flare showed Dallas and Flannigan bent over the timepiece. And it showed something else. The rug had been turned back from the windows which opened on the street, and the curtains had been removed. On the bare hardwood floor just beneath the windows was an array of pans of various sizes, dish pans, cake tins, and a metal foot tub. The pans were raised from the floor on bricks, and seemed to be full of paper. All the chairs and tables were pushed back against the wall, and the bric-a-brac was stacked on the mantel.

"Half an hour yet," Dal said, closing his watch. "Plenty of time, and remember the signal, four short and two long."

"Four short and two long—all right, sir."

"And—Flannigan, here's something for you, on account."

"Thank you, sir."

Dal turned to go out, tripped over the rug, said something, and passed me without an idea of my presence. A moment later Flannigan went out, and I was left, huddled against the wall, and alone.

It was puzzling enough. "Four long and two short!" "All but the powder!" Not that I believed for a moment that Max had said, and any how Flannigan was the sanest person I ever saw in my life. But it all seemed a part of the mystery that had been hanging over us for several days. I felt my way across the room and knelt by the pans. Yes, they were there, full of paper and mounted on bricks. It had not been a delusion.

And then I straightened on my knees suddenly, for an automobile passing under the window had sounded four short honks and two long ones. The signal was followed instantly by a crash. The foot bath had fallen from its supports, and lay, quivering and vibrating with horrid noises at my feet. The next moment Mr. Harbison had thrown open the door and leaped into the room.

"Who's there?" he demanded. Against the light I could see him reaching for his hip pocket, and the rest crowding up around him.

"It's only me," I quavered, "that is, I. The dish pan upset."

"Dish pan!" Bella said from back in the crowd. "Kit, of course!"

Jim forced his way through them and turned on the lights. I have no doubt I looked very strange, kneeling there on the bare floor, with a row of pans mounted on bricks behind me, and the furniture all piled on itself in a back corner.

"Kit! What in the world—" Jim began, and stopped. He stared from me to the pans, to the windows, to the bric-a-brac on the mantel, and back to me.

I sat stonily silent. Why should I explain? Whenever I got into a foolish position, and tried to explain, and tell how it happened, and who was really to blame, they always brought it back to me somehow. So I sat there on the floor and let them stare. And finally Lollie Mercer got her breath and said: "How perfectly lovely; it's a charade!"

And Anne guessed "kitchen" at once. "Kit, you know, and the pans and—all that," she said, vaguely. At that they all took to guessing! And I sat still, until Mr. Harbison saw the storm in my eyes and came over to me.

"Have you hurt your ankle?" he said in an undertone. "Let me help you up."

"I am not hurt," I said, coldly. "and even if I were, it would be unnecessary to trouble you."

"I cannot help being troubled," he returned, just as evenly. "You see, it makes me ill for days if my car runs over a dog."

Luckily, at that moment Dal came in. He pushed his way through the crowd without a word, shut off the lights, crashed through the pans and slammed the shutters close. Then he turned and addressed the rest.

"Of all the lunatics—" he began, only there was more to it than that.

"A fellow goes to all kinds of trouble to put an end to this miserable situation, and the entire household turns out and sets to work to frustrate the whole scheme. You like to stay here, don't you, like chickens in a coop? Where's Flannigan?"

Nobody understood Dal's wrath then, but it seems he meant to arrange the plot himself, and when it was ripe, and the hour nearly come, he intended to wager that he could break the quarantine, and to take any odds he could get that he would free the entire party in half an hour. As for the plan itself, it was idiotically simple; we were perfectly delighted when we heard it. It was so simple and yet so comprehensive. We didn't see how it could fail. Both the Mercer girls kissed Dal on the strength of it, and Anne was furious. Jim was so much pleased, for some reason or other, and Mr. Harbison looked thoughtful rather than merry. Aunt Selma had gone to bed.

The idea, of course, was to start an embryo fire just inside the windows, in the pans, to feed it with the orange-fire powder that is used on the Fourth of July, and when we had thrown open the windows and yelled "fire" and all the guards and reporters had rushed to the front of the house, to escape quietly by a rear door from the basement kitchen, get into machines Dal had in waiting, and lose ourselves as quickly as we could.

You can see how simple it was. Everyone rushes!

coats and veils, and Dal shuffled the numbers so the people going the same direction would have the same machine. We called to each other as we dressed about Marmaroneck or Lakewood or wherever we happened to have relatives. Everybody knew everybody else, and his friends. The Mercer girls were going to cruise until the trouble blew over, the Browns were going to Pinehurst, and Jim was going to Africa to hunt, if he could get out of the harbor.

Only the Harbison man seemed to have no plans; quite suddenly with the world so near again, the world of country houses and steam yachts and all the rest of it, he ceased to be one of us. It was not his world at all. He stood back and watched the kaleidoscope of our coats and veils, half-quizzically, but with something in his face that I had not seen there before. If he had not been so self-reliant and big, I would have said he was lonely. Not that he was pathetic in any sense of the word. Of course, he avoided me, which was natural and exactly what I wished. Bella never was far from him, and at the last she loaded him with her jewel case and a muff and traveling bag and asked him to her cousins' on Long Island. I felt sure he was going to decline, when he glanced across at me.

"Do go," I said, very politely. "They are charming people." And he accepted at once!

It was a transparent plot on Bella's part: Two elderly ladies, house miles from anywhere, long evenings in the music room with an open fire and Bella at the harp playing the two songs she knows.

When we were ready and gathered in the kitchen, in the darkness, of course, Dal went up on the roof and signaled with a lantern to the cars on the drive. Then he went downstairs, took a last look at the drawing-room, fired the papers, shook the powder, opened the windows and yelled "fire!"

Of course, huddled in the kitchen, we had heard little or nothing. But we plainly heard Dal on the first floor and Flannigan on the second yelling "fire," and the patter of feet as the guards ran to the front of the house. And at that instant we remembered Aunt Selma!

That was the cause of the whole trouble. I don't know why they turned on me; she wasn't my aunt. But by the time they had got her out of bed, and had wrapped her in an elderdown comfort, and stuck slippers on her feet and a motor veil on her head, the glare at the front of the house was beginning to die away. She didn't understand at all, and we had no time to explain. I remember that she wanted to go back and get her "plate," whatever that may be, but Jim took her by the arm and hurried her along, and the rest, who had waited, and were in awful tempers, stood aside and let them out first.

The door to the area steps was open, and by the street lights we could see a fence and a gate, which opened on a side street. Jim and Aunt Selma ran straight for the gate; the wind blowing Aunt Selma's comfort like a sail. Then, with our feet, so to speak, on the first rung of the ladder of liberty, it slipped. A half dozen guards and reporters came around the house and drove us back like sheep into a slaughter pen. It was the most humiliating moment of my life.

Dal had been for fighting a way through, and just for a minute I think I went Berserk myself. But Max spied one of the reporters setting up a flash-light as we stood, undecided, at the top of the steps, and after that there was nothing to do but retreat. We backed slowly, to show them we were not afraid. And when we were all in the kitchen again, and had turned on the lights and Bella was crying with her head against Mr. Harbison's arm, Dal said, cheerfully: "Well, it has done some good, anyhow. We have lost Aunt Selma."

And we all shook hands on it, although we were sorry about Jim. And Dal said we would have some champagne and drink to Aunt Selma's comfort, and we could have her teeth fumigated and send them to her. Somebody said "Poor old Jim," and at that Bella looked up.

She stared around the group, and then she went quite pale.

"Jim!" she gasped. "Do you mean—that Jim is—out there, too?"

"Jim and Aunt Selma!" I said as calmly as I could for joy. You see how it simplified the situation for me. "By this time they are a mile away, and going!"

Everybody shook hands again except Bella. She had dropped into a chair, and sat biting her lip and breathing hard, and she would not join in any of the hilarity at getting rid of Aunt Selma. Finally she got up and knocked over her chair.

"You are a lot of cowards," she stormed. "You deserted them out there, left them. Heaven knows where they are—a defenseless old woman, and—a man who did not even have an overcoat. And it is snowing!"

"Never mind," Dal said, reassuringly. "He can borrow Aunt Selma's comfort. Make the old lady discard from weakness. Anyhow, Bella, if I know anything of human nature, the old lady will make it hot enough for him. Poor old Jim!"

Then they shook hands again, and with that there came a terrible banging at the door, which we had locked. "Open the door!" some one commanded. It was one of the guards.

"Open it yourself!" Dallas called, moving a kitchen table to re-enforce the lock.

"Open that door or we will break it in!"

Dallas put his hands in his pockets, seated himself on the table, and whistled cheerfully. We could hear them conferring outside, and they made another appeal, which was refused. Suddenly Bella came over and confronted Dallas.

"They have brought them back!" she said dramatically. "They are out there now; I distinctly heard Jim's voice. Open that door, Dallas!"

"Oh, don't let them in!" I wailed. It was quite involuntary, but the disappointment was too awful. "Dallas, don't open that door!"

Dal swung his feet and smiled from Bella to me.

"Think what a resolution it is to all our difficulties," he said, easily. "Without Aunt Selma I could be happy here indefinitely."

There was more knocking, and somebody—Max, I think—said to let them in, that it was a fool thing anyhow, and that he wanted to go to bed, and forget it; his feet were cold. And just then there was a crash, and part of one of the windows fell in. The next blow from outside brought the rest of the glass, and—somebody was coming through, feet first. It was Jim.

He did not speak to any of us, but turned and helped in a bundle of red and yellow silk comfort that proved to be Aunt Selma, also feet first. I had a glimpse of a half-dozen heads outside, guards and reporters. Then Jim jerked the shade down and unswathed Aunt Selma's legs so that she could walk, offered his arm, and stalked past us and upstairs, without a word!

None of us spoke. We turned out the lights and went upstairs and took off our wraps and went to bed. It had been almost a fiasco.

YOUNG TAFT LIONIZED

President's Son Kept Busy During Holiday Week.

Accepted So Many Invitations to Attend Dances, Teas, Etc., During Holidays That He Didn't Find Time for Anything Else.

Washington.—Master Charlie Taft, the younger son of the president, was home for the holidays, and was quite the busiest young person, socially, in Washington. Charles has always figured as an out-of-doors boy, one who loves to sail a boat or take a swim, play a game of baseball or kick a football, and when his father was secretary of war and Charlie was quite a little chap, he even delighted to shovel off the snow in front of the Taft home. In fact, Charles was rather contemptuous of affairs social, but his point of view has changed with this homecoming.

Many stories of Charlie's exploits in the quite young set have already been told, but his banner day, the day he beat all records, was on Thursday of Christmas week. Master Charles started out with a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Benjamin Macou for her young sons, likewise home from school; he then rushed off to a tea given by Miss Squire, which was followed by a dinner given by Mrs. John C. Hewson at her home in Sixteenth street, after which he and some of the other young guests departed for the Washington club, where a dance was in progress, at which the Secretary of Commerce and Labor and Mrs. Nagel were hosts for their children's friends. Master Charles got home in the hours just preceding the wee sma ones, a bit tired, but very enthusiastic, just as a beginner in anything always is, and now he throws no more stones at society or its devotees.

A story told of Charlie is characteristic of him, and, with one told of

CHARLIE TAFT

Archie Roosevelt, shows the different natures of the two boys. When a boy at the Force school asked Archie what his father "did" Archie promptly answered "My father's IT." A little girl asked Charlie what his name was, to which question he replied "Taft." The next was "What's your father do?" to which the youngest member of the Taft family replied: "Oh, he has some sort of a government job down here."

Probably the two liveliest persons at the White House dance Friday night of the holiday week was the president and his youngest child, Charles, who was a privileged character and allowed to mingle with the guests, though they were all of a set known as the young set, but not quite as young as Master Charles' own set. The president never loses a chance to dance, because he loves it, and because, some whisper, the exercise helps to keep his weight down.

Christmas week was full of dances, for that is the accepted way of entertaining the young people home from college and school for the Christmas holidays, and every hostess seems to have taken advantage of the dance as a means of giving a good time to everybody, the elder folks as well as the younger.

College Girls Shine Shoes.

South Hadley, Mass.—The enthusiasm of Mount Holyoke college students over the $500,000 fund for an alumnae building has reached the point at which the girls in one hall are shining shoes to swell the receipts.

Ten cents a shine is charged and while there is no stipulation that members of the freshmen class shall not patronize a shoe cleaning stand presided over by sophomores, respect for tradition has thus far prevented such an unpardonable thing.

The shoe shining business is restricted to the college young women.

Hairpins Make Car Go.

Athol, Mass.—On an afternoon run of a local car several women sacrificed their hairpins, at the peril of losing their "rats," that the car might make the run.

The car developed fuse trouble. The motorman found that short pieces of metal were necessary to make fuse connections. Being a resourceful man, he opened the front door and asked for few hairpins.

With smiles several women pulled hairpins from their tresses and, by plugging in one hairpin after another, he managed to keep the current on.

NOT THE ONLY ONE

THERE ARE HUNDREDS OF DIXON PEOPLE SIMILARLY SITUATED.

Can there be any stronger proof offered than the evidence of Dixon residents? After you have read the following, quietly answer the question:

Julius Gottlieb, 418 W. First St., Dixon, Ill., says: "My back pained me for some time and I was often so lame and sore that it was hard for me to stoop. The secretions from my kidneys were irregular in passage and I was thus convinced that my kidneys were disordered. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, I got a box at Leake Bros. Co.'s Drug Store and commenced their use. My experience with this remedy is very satisfactory and I am pleased to acknowledge the benefit I received." (Statement given April 14, 1909).

A Lasting Effect.

Mr. Gottlieb was interviewed on January 4, 1910, and he added to the above: "You may continue to publish my former endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills. The relief they gave me has been permanent."

REACHES SOUTH POLE?

RUMORED IN LONDON CAPTAIN SCOTT WAS SUCCESSFUL.

Scientists Believe Party Are Returning From Antarctic Circle After Two Years' Absence.

London, March 7.—A rumor published here that Capt. Robert F. Scott, the British antarctic explorer, had reached the South Pole, excited intense interest throughout England, but a without confirmation.

Mrs. Scott, the explorer's wife, who lives in London, declared that she has had no word for some time from her husband, and a news agency which claims to be the news representation of Captain Scott has no information, and expects no word from Captain Scott for some time. It is admitted that Captain Scott must be somewhere near his cherished goal by this time.

The Captain is an officer of the British navy. The Terra Nova, in which his expedition sailed, left London June 1, 1910, and was joined later in New Zealand by Captain Scott. Stores sufficient for three years were taken aboard. In January, 1911, Captain Scott and party went south to establish supply stations, his vessel returning to Auckland. All through last summer it was the intention to make the final preparations for the last dash toward the pole, which was to be carried out at the end of the year just closing. It is assumed, therefore, that if the expedition has been successful Captain Scott is on his way back to civilization.

The captain has with him sixty men, twenty Siberian ponies, thirty dogs and two motor sledges.

Hobart, Tasmania, March 7.—Capt. Roald Amundsen, the Norwegian explorer, has reached here on the return from his south polar expedition.

Anti-Cigarette Bill Defeated. Frankfort, Ky., March 7.—The senate by a vote of 24 to 6 defeated a bill designed to prohibit the sale of cigarettes in this state.

HURT AT PLAY'S REHEARSAL

Herman Kenelpp of Mount Carmel is Shot in the Face by Friend
Who Forgets Revolver is Loaded.

Mount Carmel, March 7.—While rehearsing a wild west play, to be presented at the Orlo school, a few miles from here, Herman Kenelpp, twenty-four years old, was shot in the face. Several young men were practicing so they could draw their revolvers rapidly. Ansen Andrews flashed his revolver in Kenelpp's face and pulled the trigger before he remembered the weapon was loaded. The play was called off.

Illinoisan Kills a Tramp.

Duquoin, March 7.—An unidentified tramp was shot and killed at Christopher by Elmer Swain, who in turn was slightly wounded in the head by the tramp. Swain's father was held up by a tramp, and when the younger Swain heard of the affair he started out to find the assailant. He found a party of eight tramps, one of whom shot at him, and Swain returned the fire. He surrendered to the police and later was released on a plea of self-defense. The tramp carried a traveling card issued by the Modern Woodmen lodge at Jackson, Tenn.

Two Held for Gem Thefts.

Elgin, March 7.—Francis Vallyley and John Cafferty, employees in an Elgin watch factory, were arrested in a Chicago hotel, it was learned, charged with operating a systematic plot to deal in watch jewels, which, it is said, has netted them thousands of dollars in the last year. When arrested the men were completing the transfer of 150,000 watch jewels to John Worley, a Waltham (Mass.) jeweler. Detectives secreted in the room overheard the transactions.

Confirm Swamp Assessment.

Dixon, March 7.—The jury in the inlet swamp drainage case reported to the county court a decision confirming the assessment of $375,292 of John Egan, Jr., engineer. It reapportioned the assessments. The valuations against land owners in the tract will be lowered 25 per cent. The total assessments will be nearly $1,000,000. The jury had considered the case since December 2.

Kin of Revolutionist Dies.

Freeport, March 7.—Mrs. Emma Rosenstiel, widow of Charles H. Rosenstiel, is dead at her home in this city. Mrs. Rosenstiel was eighty-five years of age and was a granddaughter of one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. Her husband established one of the first beet sugar factories in Illinois in this city nearly fifty years ago.

Knight's Name Judge McCarl.

Quincy, March 7.—Eleventh District Knights of Pythias elected Judge Lyman McCarl of Quincy district deputy chancellor commander here. Grand Chancellor Charles L. Ritter of Murphysboro and Grand Keeper of Records and Seal H. P. Caldwell of Chicago were present.

Find Baby Dead in Pail of Water.

Pontiac, March 7.—The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. John Ebright was found drowned in a pail of water. It is presumed that a two-year-old child attempted to carry the baby during the absence of Mrs. Ebright from the room and dropped it head first into the pail of water.

Taft's Administration Indorsed.

Champaign, March 7.—The administration of President Taft was indorsed by the Republican committee of the Nineteenth congressional district. Congressman McKinley was also highly praised. Champaign was selected for the congressional convention, April 17.

Shoots a Farmer in Feud Fight.

Alton, March 7.—Ed O'Leary, a policeman, shot and fatally wounded James Dukes, a farmer, during a quarrel in a saloon, as a result of an old feud, when Dukes killed George Springer, a friend of O'Leary's, sixteen years ago.

Fears Accident; Is Killed.

Joliet, March 7.—Pietro Cambera, a section foreman, was killed between two car couplings two hours after leaving home. He had told his wife that he had presentment of an accident.

$117 an Acre Paid at Grayville.
Grayville, March 7.—What is considered a high price for farm land in this part of Illinois was paid when 108 acres near Grayville brought $12,600, or nearly $117 an acre.

Temperance Meeting in Grayville.
Grayville, March 7.—Pastors of Grayville churches conducted a temperance meeting at the Baptist church.
